

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

Executive Committee

Board Chair - Dr. Lizabeth Fogel is the Vice President, Learning, Strategy and Development at DoGoodery, LLC. She has decades of successful experience in learning content development, educational media, and business. Prior to moving to DoGoodery Lizabeth was the Managing Director of USC Center EDGE (Engagement Drive Global Education). The Center for Engagement-Driven Global Education (EDGE) fuels interdisciplinary partnerships to bring relevant, sustainable innovation to scale in the crucial area of educational engagement.

From 2007 until 2016 she was the Director of Education for The Walt Disney Company, focused particularly on serving: Imagineering, Studios (including Pixar) and Corporate Citizenship. She played a critical role advising and guiding multiple business units on developmental milestones and educational (formal and informal) best practices. Lizabeth's success comes from her ability to reach across business units and seamlessly integrate external partners into a collaborative, shared vision. She was responsible for the creative vision, integrity, and educational validity of the company's products and programs. This includes, but is not limited to, the DisneyNature Educators' Guides, Shanghai Disneyland Resort informal learning experiences, outreach content and programs for a variety of films (ex. Finding Dory, The Jungle Book, Inside Out, Big Hero 6) and Pixar in a Box, a collaboration between Pixar Animation Studios and Khan Academy. Annually these materials reach approximately 400,000 students nationwide and receive around 4 million general audience impressions. Lizabeth's leadership extends well beyond her education and corporate work. She is the Chair of the National Board for the American Camp Association. Additionally, she is a member of the boards for two for-profit companies; Participate Learning and Makematic who develop innovative tools and content for educators and learners on a global scale. She has cultivated a world-class network comprised of individuals with an array of expertise that she leverages in innovative ways by working within interdisciplinary teams. Lizabeth is serving her second term on the ACA Board of Directors and her first as Board Chair.

Vice Chair - Dayna Hardin is the President of CampGroup LLC. Dayna began her camp journey at Lake of the Woods Camp in Decatur, Michigan in 1979. She worked her way up to counselor and assistant director before becoming owner/director of both Lake of the Woods and Greenwoods in 1997. Her camps in Michigan serve 1275 campers each summer. As President of CampGroup, Dayna consults, supports, and guides camps directors and staff across the company. She is very involved in leadership roles within the entire camp industry. She is the past President for Midwest Association of Independent Camps (MAIC). Dayna is also the co-founder of SCOPE Midwest (Summer Camp Opportunities Promote Education), a charity that provides scholarships to underserved children to attend non-for-profit camps. She is a speaker at camp conferences across the country on topics ranging from leadership, homesickness, youth development, difficult conversations, trends in camping, opening camp in a COVID world, and more. She is the past chair for the ACA National Conference (2008-2011) and has received numerous awards for her dedication to youth development and leadership within the camp industry. Dayna is serving her first term as the Vice Chair of the ACA National Board.

Treasurer – Anthony Stein is a third-generation camp owner/director, having grown up at Camp Echo Lake, giving him a unique perspective and insight into what it takes to lead successful camp communities. Tony started as a 6-year-old camper in 1969 and has held almost every job in camp along the way to becoming Camp Director in 1995. Widely recognized as a leader in the field of camp, Tony has served for three years on the ACA National Board of Directors; has been Board President of the ACA New York Section; and has served on the Board of Directors of Project Morry since its inception in 1996. Tony has spent the better part of 50 summers at Echo Lake, missing just a few years while earning his MBA at the Wharton School of Business and working in Marketing Management for several years. Last year Tony was honored by ACA NY/NJ with the Thelma Hurwitz Tri-State Leadership Award, the highest honor for a member of the ACA NY/NJ Affiliate. In addition to Camp Echo Lake, Tony owns and operates camps as Principal of Horizon Camping Associates Inc. Anthony is serving his first term as Treasurer of the ACA National Board.

President/Chief Executive Officer – Tom Rosenberg as President and CEO of the American Camp Association (ACA), is a leading voice for young people today, advancing the public’s understanding of the value of camp for everyone as an essential developmental and educational experience. Tom is actively advancing the collective field of camp in its battle against the prevalent tide of depression, anxiety, and social disconnection affecting today’s youth, while teaching the mindsets, skills, and dispositions everyone needs to thrive in school, work, and life. Through Tom’s leadership, ACA has adopted a bold and ambitious strategic plan to accelerate ACA’s organizational growth and sustainability by expanding its reach, relevance, and equitable accessibility; championing quality; and amplifying the value of camp experiences in youth education and development. Prior to serving as President/CEO of ACA, Tom had a distinguished 27-year career leading nonprofit and for-profit camps. As a volunteer, Tom served in diverse leadership capacities at ACA, including national board treasurer. Tom graduated with distinction from the Marshall School of Business at the University of Southern California with an MBA and from the AB Freeman School of Business at Tulane University with a BS in Management. Tom melds his experience in the camp profession with business expertise, inspirational vision, successful fundraising experience, professional agility, organizational skills, and strategic focus. Tom and his wife, Pam Sugarman, and their son Daniel live in Atlanta, Georgia.

Board Members

Rafael Alvarado is an educator, human resources, and summer camp professional experienced in leading and supporting organizations in the US and LATAM on Strategic Talent Management/Development and DEI initiatives, and as a Camp Director at Keybees Camp in FL, providing and promoting the summer camp experience to Hispanic and Spanish-speaking communities residing or visiting Florida.

Before moving to South Florida, Rafael held board member positions at different organizations, including the Venezuelan Camping Association and the Chamber of Private Education. During his tenure in the Venezuelan Camping Association, he co-authored the Summer Camp Operational Standards and Guide from Camp Accreditation, represented the Association before the National Assembly (Congress) to discuss the Recreation National Law, and promoted and co-authored the curriculum for a Summer Camp Director Graduate’s Diploma at the Metropolitan University. Rafael started his camp journey as a camper around 1986 and worked his way up to Camp Director/Owner and summer camp industry advocate. He holds a Specialist degree in Education Management, a B.S. in Business Administration and Management, and a Cum Laude B.S. in Education. Rafael is serving his first term on the ACA National Board.

Elizabeth Bagley, Ph.D. is a Program Director at SEI primarily building sustainability leaders through partnerships with higher education institutions. Elizabeth’s interdisciplinary background spans academia, business, and the nonprofit sector. Before joining SEI, Elizabeth led Drawdown Learn at Project Drawdown where she produced Climate Solutions 101, directed sustainability efforts at the California Academy of Sciences, and designed the science content for video games at LeapFrog. Elizabeth frequently speaks about climate solutions and created the LinkedIn Learning class, “An Employee’s Guide to Sustainability” which has engaged tens of thousands of learners. An experienced environmental educator, Elizabeth worked as a naturalist in Glacier National Park, taught middle and high school science in Louisiana, developed K-12 professional development for teachers, and designed a science communication course for graduate students. Elizabeth holds joint PhDs in Environment & Resources and Educational Psychology from the University of Wisconsin at Madison where she studied how video games can encourage systems thinking about complex environmental topics. Elizabeth is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Scott Brody, Esq. is an educator and thought leader in the areas of 21st Century Learning, Workforce Development and Child Development. He is the National Board Chair of the American Camp Association and a past Executive Board member of the Partnership for 21st Century Learning in Washington, DC. He has led multiple briefings for the US Congress on the ways in which high quality camp experiences promote college and career readiness and speaks globally on these issues on behalf of the camp profession.

Scott is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Foundation for Jewish Camp. He is also the author of an award-winning article for Camping Magazine entitled “Teaching the Skills that Children Need to Succeed”. Scott is the Founder of Everwood Day Camp in Sharon, MA and the Owner of Camps Kenwood & Evergreen and Camp Sewataro. He is an honors graduate of UC Berkeley and received a Juris Doctor from Boston College Law School in 1990. Scott is serving his second term as on the ACA National Board.

Deborah Clair has 20 years of nonprofit management and fundraising experience. She has worked for a world-famous cultural institution and a Catholic school on the northwest side of Chicago, where she specialized in corporate and foundation fundraising, and grant writing. Ms. Clair has raised more than $10 million dollars over her career. Deborah received her bachelor's from Columbia College Chicago where she majored in Radio/Television Production. She received her master's in nonprofit management and fundraising and this year she will receive her doctoral degree in Interdisciplinary Leadership with a concentration in Nonprofit and Social Entrepreneurship from Governors State University. Deborah is the Founder and Executive Director of CAMP 1302. Located in Chicago's Englewood community. Camp1302 has become a vital resource to families by providing academic enhancement and creativity through reading, arts and crafts, field trips, and team sports. Since its founding, Camp 1302 has served more than 400 Campers and will be celebrating its 10th year anniversary this year. Deborah was born and raised on Chicago's southside and is an advocate for and product of the Chicago Public Schools. She has been married 20 years and has three adult children who were all campers at various residential summer camps. Deborah is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Meg Clark began her camping career in 1992 after spending summers as a camper, counselor, and leader at her summer camp. Her belief in camping led her to build Camp Lonehollow, a successful co-ed camp in the Texas Hill Country. The idea that a summer camp plays an instrumental role in a child's development is seen throughout the programming at Lonehollow. Prior to building her own vision of summer camp, Meg served as the director of Camp Waldemar for 10 years. During that time, she was an officer and President of C.A.M.P. for four years with the goal of strengthening the camping industry, providing support for member camps and to raise health and safety standards. Additionally, Meg has been a part of the ACA's Local Council of Leaders for the past 6 plus years. Meg is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Ju'Riese Colon is the Chief Executive Officer of the U.S. Center for SafeSport, the nation's only nonprofit organization committed to ending all forms of abuse in sport. As CEO, Ju'Riese leads the strategic vision and direction of the organization to ensure every athlete is safe, supported, and strengthened through support. Ju'Riese formerly served as the National Vice President of Child & Club Safety for the Boys & Girls Clubs of America. She was responsible for developing and leading the child safety policies and initiatives for more than 1,100 Boys & Girls Clubs Organizations and nearly 4,300 Boys & Girls Club locations across the United States, including those located on Native lands and military bases. Ju'Riese formerly served as the Executive Director of Prevention & Outreach for the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC). She led NCMEC's prevention and education programs related to child abduction and sexual exploitation and their delivery to children, families, and the public. Ju'Riese was with NCMEC for 15 years. Her professional experience also includes leading prevention and outreach initiatives with youth serving organizations serving families, educators, law enforcement, and diverse communities. Ju'Riese an experienced child advocate and serves as an expert on issues related to child safety. She is a graduate of Virginia Commonwealth University where she received degrees in both Criminal Justice and Spanish. She also holds a degree from the Proyecto Lingüístico Francisco Marroquín in Antigua, Guatemala. Ju'Riese is serving her second term on the ACA National Board.

Aaron Philip Dworkin is a national leader in the education, out-of-school time (OST) and youth development fields. He currently serves as Chief Executive Officer of the National Summer Learning Association (NSLA), which works to ensure all young people in America, but especially the most vulnerable, can access and afford a high-quality summer learning experience every year. Aaron oversees NSLA's support to their network of 15,000 program partners and leaders in the areas of Program Quality, Partnerships, Policy, Public Awareness and Leadership Development. Prior to NSLA, he served as President of the After-School All-Stars National Network, a non-profit organization providing free afterschool and summer programs to 90,000 low-income students in more than 450 Title I schools in 20 major cities across the U.S. Previously, he founded and directed Hoops & Leaders, an award-winning, grassroots youth mentoring and leadership program for low-income boys in New York City. He is a member of the American Camp Association National Board and a graduate of Tufts University, Harvard's Graduate School of Education, Columbia's School of International and Public Affairs, and the Coro Fellowship and Leadership Greater Washington. He resides in Washington DC with his wife Lauren and two children. Aaron is serving his second term on the ACA National Board.

Meena Julapalli, MD is a pediatric dermatologist at Bluebird Dermatology, a private practice she founded in Houston, Texas. She was previously on faculty at Dell Children's Medical Center in Austin and Children's Hospital Colorado in Denver as an Assistant Professor of Dermatology. She has a passion for providing comprehensive care that acknowledges and supports more than just the physical aspects of her patients' skin conditions, but also the social and emotional needs of her patients as well. She believes that when children and families affected by skin disease have a space and community where they feel loved and supported, it empowers and transforms them in profound and life-changing ways. For the past fifteen years, Dr. Julapalli has been blessed to facilitate and witness these transformations through her involvement with support groups and camp programs for children and families affected by skin disease. She currently serves on the Board of Directors for A Children's House for the Soul, on the leadership team of the American Academy of Dermatology-sponsored Camp Discovery Texas at Camp For All in Burton, TX, on the Medical Advisory Committee for Paul Newman's SeriousFun Network camp Roundup River Ranch in Gypsum, Colorado, and as a medical volunteer for Camp Spirit, a winter ski camp in Winter Park, Colorado for children with epidermolysis bullosa. She is excited to help build the impact of camp even more while on the Board of Directors of the American Camp Association. In addition to her philanthropic pursuits in her local and national community, Dr. Julapalli has also been dedicated to serving children abroad. She has volunteered her time and expertise at a pediatric HIV/AIDS clinic in Lesotho, Africa, at orphanages and schools in Nicaragua, with children and adults with albinism in Tanzania, and most recently, she served people in impoverished villages in northern Thailand. In her spare time, Dr. Julapalli loves making memories with her friends and family, especially her beautiful nephews. You will often find her fanatically supporting her beloved Houston Astros and Rockets, New Orleans Saints, and Crimson Tide football teams, hiking up 14,000+ ft mountains, traveling the world and being invigorated by all the beauty that surrounds us, enjoying and playing music in all its forms, spreading love and kindness, and being the quintessential kid at heart who always finds the joy in even the smallest of things. Meena is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Suzanne Le Menestrel, Ph.D., CAE is a Senior Planning, Strategy, and Impact Officer for the National CASA/GAL Association for Children where she provides leadership for organizational wide planning, research, data collection and analysis, evaluation, and performance and accountability efforts. Previously, Dr. Le Menestrel was a Senior Program Officer in the Board on Children, Youth, and Families, at the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine where she directed five consensus studies on the well-being of children and families. Prior to her tenure with the National Academies, she was the founding national program leader for youth development research at 4-H National Headquarters, U.S. Department of Agriculture; served as the research director at the Academy for Educational Development's Center for Youth Development and Policy Research; and was a research associate at Child Trends. Dr. Le Menestrel was a founder of the Journal of Youth Development: Bridging Research and Practice and chaired its publications committee. She has published in numerous refereed journals and is an invited member of several advisory groups including a research advisory group for the ACA. She is an elected member of the McLean Community Center Governing Board and is a volunteer mentor for the Dream Project VA. She holds a B.S. in psychology from St. Lawrence University and an M.S. and Ph.D. in human development and family studies from Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Le Menestrel also has a nonprofit management executive certificate from Georgetown University, and she is a certified association executive. In her free time, she enjoys international travel with her family, visiting national parks, listening to podcasts, seeing live theatre and music concerts, and reading. Suzanne is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Sterling Nell Leija is the Director of Operations at Roundup River Ranch, a member of the SeriousFun Children's Network. Roundup River Ranch enriches the lives of children with serious illnesses and their families by offering free, medically supported camp programs that provide unforgettable opportunities to discover joy, friendships, and confidence. Sterling is an active member of ACA and has served in numerous volunteer roles within the Texoma LCOL and more recently the Rocky Mountain LCOL. As a graduate of Texas, A&M University with a background in educational psychology, Sterling is passionate about education, outcome based intentional programming, and the impact of camp. Sterling is serving her second term on the ACA National Board.

Dan Mathews M.Ed., CTRS, is the Chief Experience Officer for Camp Twin Lakes, which partners with over 60 non-profit youth-serving organizations across the state of Georgia to provide camping opportunities for kids who wouldn't otherwise be able to attend due to serious illnesses, disabilities, and life challenges through its extensive programming and operation of 3 year-round campsites. A certified Recreation Therapist, Dan is active in the American Camp Association, Rotary, and was named the 2017 Youth Development Practitioner of the Year by the US PLAY Coalition. He has also served on the faculty of Georgia Southern University teaching in the Recreation Therapy Curriculum. Dan has also served on several Boards of Non-Profits, including Catalyst Sports, the Madison Morgan Convention and Visitor's Bureau, and the Rotary Club of Morgan County. He lives in Rutledge, Georgia with his wife Heather and daughters Mary-Katherine and Hannah. Dan is serving his first term on the ACA National Board.

Carl Metzger, Esq., a partner in the firm's Litigation Group and a member of its Securities Litigation & SEC Enforcement Practice, concentrates on complex business litigation for technology companies, private equity firms and other business clients. Mr. Metzger's experience includes securities litigation defense, financial fraud litigation, governmental and self-regulatory organization investigations, intellectual property litigation and complex commercial disputes. He specializes in advising clients on director and officer liability, insurance coverage matters, liability risk prevention and litigation due diligence regarding mergers and acquisitions. Mr. Metzger is currently a co-chair of the American Bar Association's Subcommittee on Securities and the Internet, and he is a former editor of the American Bar Association's journal, Securities News. Mr. Metzger has been recognized as a "Massachusetts Super Lawyer" by Boston Magazine and has been elected as a Fellow of the American College of Coverage and Extracontractual Counsel (ACCEC). Mr. Metzger writes and speaks nationally on litigation-related topics, and he has been quoted in such media outlets as The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, CNN, The Boston Globe, The Philadelphia Inquirer, Corporate Board Member Magazine, and CFO Magazine. Carl is serving his second term on the ACA National Board.

Bill Roden For over 20 years, I've worked across a wide stretch of media for brands like Nike, Burger King, Intuit, Coca-cola, Microsoft, Kraft, General Mills, Xbox, Activision, American Express, Porsche, Kia, Audi, Volvo, Toyota, Volkswagen, Adidas, and Domino's. Name an industry and I have likely touched it at one point or another. I've created TV shows, documentaries, a book on small business, mobile apps, global racing/motorsport events, clothing lines and other unconventional work on behalf of my clients at agencies like Wieden + Kennedy, Crispin Porter + Bogusky (twice), TBWA\Chiat\Day, David and Goliath, Saatchi, and Saatchi (twice), Ogilvy (twice), Mullen, and EuroRSCG. My work has been recognized in award festivals like Cannes (Lions, Cyber Lions, and Titanium Lions), the Clios, One Show and One Show interactive, Communication Arts, D&AD, and the London International Awards. My family and I are avid outdoors people and spend every chance we can in the wilderness. Bill is serving his first term on the ACA National Board.

Andy Shlensky is the owner and director of North Star Camp in Hayward, Wisconsin, as well as the co-owner and managing partner of The Road Less Traveled, a service and adventure travel company for teens, and Bubbles Academy, an early childhood arts integrated education center in Chicago. He decided to pursue a career in youth development and camping when he was a Counselor-in-Training at North Star. After graduating from Northwestern University, he became the boys camp director at a co-ed camp in Western Massachusetts before returning to North Star in 2010 to run the camp he grew up loving. Andy believes strongly in using experiential and outdoor education to endow future generations with the confidence, character, and life skills to go out and make a difference in the world. Andy serves on the National Government Relations Committee and the board of the Midwest Association of Independent Camps and has volunteered within ACA on the Funds Development Committee, Camp Moves Me, and EPIC. He works closely with several non-profit organizations including the Camp for All Kids Foundation, 4-Star Fellowship, Geography of Hope and Whole Child Arts. When not at camp or traveling, Andy lives in Chicago with his daughter Laney. Andy is serving his first term on the ACA National Board.

Elizabeth Sosnow is a Senior Partner at Two Paths Investment Partners, which focuses on socially responsible investments in the real estate, healthcare, and communication sectors. She's a former Managing Partner and owner at Bliss Integrated Communication, where she was a part of the management team responsible for the company's overall operations and strategic direction. Her day-to-day responsibilities included overseeing the integrated marketing strategy and execution for large professional and financial services accounts. Elizabeth directed the firm's digital activities, helping B2B and B2C clients assess and maximize audience engagement via evolving communications tools. Elizabeth served as Chair of Digital Marketing for Worldcom's Global Board of Directors and previously held that position for the Americas region Board of Directors. Her own guest blog posts have appeared in Convince and Convert, PR Daily, Content Marketing Institute and Communications

Conversations, among many others. She has been named a “B2B PR Game Changer,” “100 People to Watch in PR” and runner-up “B2B Twitterer of the Year.” She recently finished serving as Marketing Chair on the Board of Children’s Learning Centers of Fairfield County, which focuses on early childhood education. In her free time, Elizabeth specializes in juggling sports equipment for her three sons, keeping up with her husband’s demand for her famous ribs dish and indulging her long-standing addiction to Jane Austen novels. Elizabeth is serving her second term on the ACA National Board.

Beatrice Wilkinson Welters brings determination, commitment, and hands-on involvement to all that she undertakes. She has a strong record of service to her country and her community, with a special focus on providing opportunities to underserved young people. Mrs. Welters served as the United States Ambassador to the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago from May 2010 through November 2012. Trinidad and Tobago is a pillar of the United States’ Caribbean Basin Initiatives strategy to promote citizen safety and reduce illicit trafficking throughout the region, and Mrs. Welters’ primary mission was to ensure that her host country remained committed to these important objectives. During her term as Ambassador, she also worked to promote cross-cultural understanding, inviting many prominent Americans to visit the islands and share their experiences with the youth of Trinidad and Tobago and facilitating the first performance by the National Symphony Orchestra in a Caribbean nation. Mrs. Welters’ passion for helping young people from under-resourced and challenging environments is carried out through the AnBryce Foundation, which she founded with her husband in 1995. Camp Dogwood Summer Academy was the first of the Foundation’s programs. Located in rural central Virginia, tuition-free Camp Dogwood welcomes over 100 young campers each summer, providing educational and personal development programs. During the school year, campers continue to receive assistance from the Foundation through its afterschool and Saturday academic enrichment programs in the Washington, DC metropolitan area. Mrs. Welters further advanced the mission of the foundation in 1998 through the creation of the AnBryce Scholars Program at the New York University School of Law. This program assists students of high merit who come from backgrounds of severe economic disadvantage and are the first in their families to attend graduate school, and provides full-tuition scholarships as well as summer employment, mentoring and other enrichment opportunities. In 2007, the AnBryce Scholars program was expanded to serve NYU undergraduates meeting the same criteria and, in 2012, the AnBryce Scholars Initiative was established at the University of Notre Dame. To date, the programs have enabled nearly 100 young people to obtain their undergraduate or law degrees. Mrs. Welters serves on the boards of several distinguished Washington, DC institutions, including the Brookings Institution, where she is a member of the Nominating Committee, and the Maret School, where she is a member of the Committee on Education and Equity. She is also a member of the Board of Visitors at Colin Powell’s School for Civic and Global Leadership at City College of New York and a Board member of the Robin Hood Foundation. She and her husband are recipients of the Woodrow Wilson Award for Public Service in recognition of their long-standing commitment to philanthropy. Mrs. Welters earned her undergraduate degree from Manhattanville College and her graduate degree from the John Jay College of Criminal Justice. She has received Honorary Doctorates from her alma mater, Manhattanville, and from Livingstone College in Salisbury, North Carolina. Mrs. Welters and her husband, Anthony, live in McLean, Virginia, and have two sons. Beatrice is serving her second term on the ACA National Board.

LeeKeshia Williams serves as the Youth Protection Program Director at The University of Texas at Austin. In 2015, LeeKeshia established and presently oversees the Youth Protection Program (YPP), which includes program development, constructing policies and procedures, establishing safeguards, regulations, and compliance. Her professional interests relate to youth development, streamlining regulatory systems and implementing e-processes within youth programming. In 2019, through LeeKeshia’s leadership the University of Texas at Austin was the first to obtain ACA Accreditation for all sponsored programs. LeeKeshia is also a member of the ACA, Texoma Local Council of Leaders. A lifelong resident of Texas, she currently resides in Austin, Texas. LeeKeshia is a Harry Potter aficionado and a shoe lover who aspires to have a collection that rivals the late Imelda Marcos. LeeKeshia is serving her first term on the ACA National Board.

Ex-Officio Voting Member

Sarah Horner Fish is the Executive Director of Tom Sawyer Camps (TSC) since 2005 (started my career at TSC as a 5-year-old camper!). Board Member at Large on the ACA National Board (2007-2009) as well as past President of WAIC (Western Association of Independent Camps, 2011 – 2013). Live in Pasadena, CA with my husband Guy who joined TSC in 2016. TSC is celebrating its 96th summer this year. Our family also runs a resident camp – Catalina

Island Camps, started in 1922 (Tom and Maria Horner) - celebrating its 100th this year. I am proud of my mom Sally Horner who helped develop ACA's standards for Day Camps in the late 70's/early 80's. She was the only Day Camp Rep on the committee. Sarah is serving a three-year term as a Board Development Committee Chair.